Based on results, established during testing of the loci listed above, biological paternity of the Alleged Father (Nikolic Aleksandar) as to the Child (Nikolic Sebastian) is not excluded.

Combined Paternity Index equals to 522184 and is calculated as a product of all indexes of each locus, and certifies that obtained data is 522184 times more probable if Alleged Father (Nikolic Aleksandar) but not random male individual, is the biological Father of the child (Nikolic Sebastian).

Considering a priori probability of paternity 50%, the posterior probability of paternity, in this case, is 99,999 %.

1. Biological paternity of the Alleged Father Nikolic Aleksandar as to the Child Nikolic Sebastian is not excluded.

2. The probability that the obtained result is not the result of an accident coincidence of individualizing systems of not related persons, is 99,999 %.

Results of genotyposcopic testing

Date of report: 28.10.2021

Report ID: 259

The customer Nikolic Aleksandar contacted medical center "Mother and Child" on date for ordering genotyposcopic research.

The organization of the genotyposcopic testing was made by the medical center "Mother and Child" as follows: DNA extraction, typing using the polymerase chain reaction method for microsatellite loci, fragment analysis, statistical calculation of probability, analysis of the obtained data, forming the conclusion of the genotyposcopic report. The genotyposcopic testing was performed using biological samples of buccal epithelium.
